AN AGED VIRGINIAN DROPS DEAD IN THE STREET.—About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon an old man named John Mills, a citizen of Fairfax county, Va., and residing in the neigh-borhood of Fail's Church, came to this city to make a visit to some of his children living here, and while walking along on C street, between 12th and 15th streets southwest, was observed by several persons to fall on the sidewalk. by several persons to fall on the sidewalk. Among them who saw him was Officer Mark-wood, who went to his relief and found him speechless. The policeman summoned a conveyance, and with Officer Gittings and Sergeant Guy took the sufferer to the South Washington stationhouse, but before they reached it the old man died. The body was recognized by several persons, and a letter was found on his person directed to Catharine Lee, by which means the officers were enabled to find his relatives. Coroner Patterson was notified and called in 19 see the body, but decided that ro inquest was necessary as he died from natural causes. The deceased was about 85 years of age, and was well known to many in this city. The remans were turned over to his sons for burial.

An Altercation Between Journalists. A few days ago Richard T. Greener, an associate editor of the New National Era, published in this city, saw fit to withdraw his editorial connection with that publication, and in so doing wrote a valedictory for its columns, which Mr. Lewis H. Douglass did not see fit to print. This worning Greener celled prop Douglass. This morning Greener called upon Douglass to expostulate, and in the heat of the argument which ensued Greener called Douglass a liar. prefixing it with an adjective not in consonance with the requirements of the Third Command-ment. Douglass at once raised his hand and brought it in contact with the cheek of the pro-fessor. The assailed party'endeavored to retal-iate with a chair, but its force was dodged by Douglass and the article of furniture was strewn Douglass and the article of furniture was strewn to smithereens on the floor of the editorial sanctum. One or two of those good people who are always on the alert for the exchange list happened in, and the two journalists were cooled down and reason resumed its sway.

THE MEANEST THIEF YET .- Yesterday, while THE MEANEST THIEF YET.—Yesterday, while a large force of laborers was busy at work in the Smithsonian grounds ploughing and leveling, some sneak thief stole about $50 worth of coats, vests and boots belonging to the working party which had been piled on and about the tool chest, which was standing in the open field near by where they were at work. The thief, a colored man, was seen by some one, who gave notice to the workmen, and they started in pur-suit, and followed the rascal to the neighbor-hood of Church's lumber yard, where they lost sight of him, as he managed to make good his

A WASHINGTONIAN DROWNED .- On Monday A WASHINGTONIAN DROWNED.—On Monday night about eleven o'clock, Richard Penard, a young colored man employed as a hand on Capt. George Reid's canal boat, fell into the lock near the canal tunnel and was drowned. His body was brought to this city and Coroner Strong notified. He summoned a jury, who after the examination of several witnesses rendered a verdict of "accidental drowning." Penard was from Washington city, but his friends are unknown. His remains were intered in the Potter's field.—Cumberland News, &A.

LOTTA as the mischievous Marchioness and Locke as the dashing Dick Swiveller delighted a large audience at Wall's Opera House last night, and repeated encores greeted their efforts. Lotta has hard work to train her features into the requisite degree of demureness for Little Nell, but succeeds finely. The play will be repeated for the last time this evening, and admirers of Dickens should not fail to see the living pictures presented of one of his greatest works.

A rousing big meeting of the republicans of the 17th and 18th districts was held at Island hall last night to ratify the nominations of F. A. Boswell and W. R. Hunt, the republican candidates for the House of Delegates from those districts. Charles H. Marshall, presided, those districts. Charles H. Marshall, presided, with Mr. McGrew as secretary.

Major H. A. Hall was the first speaker, and, after some remarks in praise of the ability and honesty of Mesers. Hunt and Boswell, spoke of the necessity of sending men to the House of Delegates who would sustain Governor Shepherd and the District government in

THE GREAT WORK OF IMPROVEMENTS entered on. He said the District government was now on trial before the national government, and men of energy and integrity were needed to represent them. He alluded to "the combination of croakers, liars and scallawags" who have been working for the destruction of our credit, both at home and abroad, and urged all republican voters to come up to the aid of the all republican voters to come up to the aid of the authorities and confound their enemies. Malicious lies are published daily in the distant press of our country in order to prejudice the minds of our national legislators against doing what they should do for the national capital.

to baffle Governor Shepherd and the friends of our District, and bring the national administration into disrepute. There had never been an appointment made by President Grant which so well satisfied the people everywhere, (except of course, the conspirators afores iid.) as that of A. R. Shepherd, and pow let the people of this District show their appreciation of him by their votes in the coming election, and choose good, honest and energetic men, who are not afraid to do their duty fearlessly. Such men are F. A. Boswell and W. R. Hunt. [Cheers.] Rev. J. Sella Martin next made a telling speech, during the delivery of which he was frequently applauded.
A communication was read from Mr. Joseph Williams, excusing his absence by reason of sickness, and pledging his unqualified support to Mr. Brewer, of the 11th district; F. A. Boswell, of the 17th, and W. R. Hunt, of the 18th well, of the 17th, and W. R. Hunt, of the 18th districts. [Cheers.]

STIRRING SPERCHES
were then made by Major Bibles, A. K. Browne and others, when the chair announced Mr. Thomas H. Barron as the next speaker. Mr. Barron started out with the annoucement that in ratifying he reserved to himself the privilege of condemning. He concurred in all that had been said in praise of Mr. Hunt, but there were others of whhm he wished to speak his mind. He then went on to state that he had published a challenge to meet any one of the candidates a challenge to meet any one of the candidates or their friends in public meeting to discuss their merits and demerits, and there had not been a man found to accept it. Not a response had been made to his challenge. Now he had an opportunity to say what he wanted to, he desired to review the political course of F. A. Boswell since he had been so generously honored with the suffrages of the people of the old 7th ward, and he would ask his audience if he was ward, and he would ask his audience if he was a fit man to represent them in the legislature? [Voices—"Yes! Yes!! Yes!!!"]

HE WISHED TO ARRAIGN BOSWELL On various charges. He then went on to say how Boswell had been elected city register and afterwards collector of taxes, and had feathered his nest on offices, and that afterwards he was sent as a delegate to the nominating convention. sent as a delegate to the nominating convention to select a man for delegate to Congress, and had cast his vote against Chipman; that in the next election for mayor he had turned against his own best friend, S. J. Bowen, and had said that he would defeat him (Bowen) for mayor if that he would defeat him (Bowen) for mayor it he had to run a democrat to do it. The chair called Barron to order, and re-minded him that the meeting had been called to ratify the nominations, and not to rake up old

Several of Mr. Boswell's friends rose to a point of order, and the chair finally ordered Mr. Barron to desist from the strain he had en-from any of Boswell's merits, but "did it be-come him to cast his vote for Fred. Douglass in that convention against Mr. Chipman?" Voices.—"Oh, dry up, you're crazv!" "Sit down and cool off!" "Rub your head with a Much confusion here followed, dozens being on their feet and all shouting at once, and finally Mr. Boswell rose and begged the audience to let Mr. Barron process.

HE PLEADED GUILTY to the charges brought by Mr. Barron, which seemed to be that he had frequently been honored by his fellow citizens of the 7th ward for various offices of trust and honor, and had generally been elected whenever nominated. This seemed to be Mr. Barron's particular grievance, but he (Boswell) was now a nominee nce more, and was going to be elected again.

once more, and was going to be elected again. [Cheers and hurrahs.]
Order was again restored, and Mr. Barron proceeded. He wished to express himself as to what he thought Mr. Bosweli to be.
Chair.—"Mr. Barron I will not suffer these personalities to go on any turther; you must take your seat."
Another rumpus followed, and the band was called upon to play, which it did.
"THE MAN WHO WAS TALKED TO DEATH."
When it was stopped, Mr. Barron, who was still on his feet, ready to commence, began to gesticulate, when Ned Holmes, a colored man, made his way to the stand, and formally presented Mr. Barron with a card, on which was printed the cut of a coffin, labelled "The man who was talked to death." On reaching out his hand to receive it, and seeing the coffin, Mr. Barron gave a jump of surprise, which brought forth yells of laughter, and it was some time before order could be restored.
Mr. Barron said he would refrain from going on any further under the pressure, but hoped at

Mr. Boswell here took the floor, and briefly
"cleared away all the cobwebs" which had been woven around him; said he was going to be elected by a larger majority than ever; complimented Mr. Hunt; declared his intention of sustaining the good name and financial integ-rity of the District government by his influence and votes.

Mr. Hunt followed in a brief address, which impressed the audience most favorably with his honesty and sincerity.

Mills Men in the Nineteenth District. A meeting of those who favor the election of Justice Mills to the House of Delegates from the 19th district was held last night at Wall's hall. Mr. Allan Coffin presided, and C. H. Simpson was chesen secretary. The meeting was addressed by Judge Moore, S. C. Mills, John N. Oliver, B. D. Peck, and F. McNerhany. The candidate "defined his position."

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the re-publicans of this district was held last night at Rebecca Hall, in the interest of Mr. T. McMahon, the regular republican nominee for the House of Delegates. Speeches were made by Mr. McMahon, Mr. Hoyt, Mr. Vincent, and others.

Republican Ratification -Twenty-sec-Republican Ratification—Twenty-second District.

The republicans of the 22d district assembled in mass meeting at the intersection of Virginia avenue and 8th street, last evening, where a platform, draped with flags, and ornamented with evergreens, had been erected. The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. L. Cowan, and was called for the purpose of ratification of the nomination of Mr. William E. Vermillion as the republican candidate for that district. Resolutions commendatory of the course of the candidate in the last legislature and pledging the undivided republican support to him in the present contest were unanimously adopted. Dr. Thomas. Mr. F. A. Boswell, Representative Lewis, of Tennessee, Dr. C. C. Cox. and tive Lewis, of Tennessee, Dr. c. c. cox, and other speakers addressed the meeting.

THE GOSS-UDDERZOOK MURDER TRIAL—Interesting Developments Expected.—The trial of Wm. E. Udderzook for the murder of A. C. Goss will take place at West Chester, Pa., on the 28th of this month. The case promises to be an exceedingly interesting one. Curious developments are expected. Over one hurdred witnesses have been summoned for the prosecution. Messrs. Clephane and Brailey, of this city, have been engaged to make an official report. The widow of Mr. Gose, it will be recollected, sued various insurance companies in Baltimore, on policies amounting to $25,000. Only one suit was tried—that against the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company—in which the widow was successful, the jury awarding her the full amount sued for, $5,000. Soon after the trial a man supposed to be A. C. Goss was murdered, as is alleged, by Udderzook, and one of the questions to be determined is whether the murdered man was A. C. Goss or not. THE GOSS-UDDERZOOK MURDER TRIAL-

IMPROVEMENTS ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.—The Board of Public Works have directed that 24th street be graded from M to N streets; also, the paving of 5th street east, from Pennsylvania avenue to East Capitol street, with wood; also, the making of 1,500 tree boxes, of the pattern heretofore approved, for immediate use. The superintendent of property has been directed to remove the stone and rubbiah from the triangular space on I street, between 5th and 6th streets, for the purpose of having said space improved. All contractors and superintendents of improvement have been directed to hurry up the work now under process of execution before the cold and stormy season commences. Vice President Willard is constantly at his desk giving directions as to its progress.

The Demolition of the Old Nothern Market.

SUIT OF STALL HOLDERS AGAINST ALEXANDER R. SHEPHERD.

To-day, in the Supreme Court in General Term, the case of Andrews & Wade against Alexander R. Shepherd was taken up—Messrs Moore, Hine and Webb for the plaintiffs and Messrs. Gooke and E. L. Stanton for defendant. This case arises out of the destruction of the old Northern Liberty market in September, 1872.

Plaintiffs at that time were possessed of eight stalls in the market, and they charge that on the fourth of September, 1872, the defendant took possession of the said property, without right and demolished the same, for which they claim damages for 24,000; the defendant filed to the declaration pleas that the plaintiff ought not to maintain the action because the market was on an open space formed by the junction of Massachuseets and New York avenues and K street, which was the property of the general government, and only in temporary occupancy of the late city of Washington, and that by sufferance; and that on or about that time Gen. Babcock, in charge of the public grounds, ordered its removal; and that at the time of the almed trespass there existed an act relating to market houses, which contemplated the removal of said market; and that the Governor, acting for the District, directed the Board of Public Works, through the defendant. to take charge of the matter of the removal of the market. The piaintiffs demur to the second and third pleas, and the case was certified from the Circuit Court.

The defendant makes the points that the ground was only in the temperary occupancy of the city of the city of the counts. certified from the Circuit Court.

The defendant makes the points that the ground was only in the temperary occupancy of the city, and that the United States desired its possession, and through its proper officer requested the defendant to take possession of it and remove the building, which involved the removal of the stands; that the defendant, in whatever he did, acted for the United States—"the owner of the freehold, with the right of entry." In this respect, his act was the act of the United States, or of its proper officer, for its entry." In this respect, his act was the act of the United States, or of its proper officer, for its supposed good. The District government hav-ing provided for the termination of the North-ern Liberty market-house, and for a temporary ern Liberty market construction of one in as well as a permanent construction of one in its place, at a different location—i.e., on square 446—and committed the removal of the old and the construction of the temporary market 446—and committed the removal of the old and the construction of the temporary market-houses to a special commission, consisting of the Governor and others, by whom the Board of Public Works was requested and authorized to take charge of the removal; and in compliance with which request and authority, as the vice president of the board, acted, he is not responsible in this action to the plaintiff. That the plaintiffs have not any just ground of complaint. The act of the legislative assembly of June 30, 1872, expressly provided for their carrying on their business at the new temporary market without charge, until the expiration of their licenses, and the alleged trespass was not committed until September 4. That whatever was done by the defendant was done in the execution of the laws aforsaid, and in virtue of the request and direction of the said Henry D. Cooke, as aforesaid, and as a member of said Board of Public Works, and not in his individual capacity, and not otherwise. The plaintiffs allege a rightful occupation under an unexpired license of said city of Washington, and claim that the first plea of defendant is bad, for it does not show a justification in law of the alleged trespass. It does not pretend that the "late" city of Washington had no right to give such license, nor that their estate therein had been lawfully determined. It does not intimate that any notice to quit had been given by the United States to the said city of Washington or the plaintiffs. If the city of Washington was tenant "by the suffrance of the United States" it was entitled to thirty days notice to quit. The third plea attempts to justify under two it was entitled to thirty days notice to quit.

The third plea attempts to justify under two acts of the legislative assembly and an order from the governor of the District of Columbia. This plea does not pretend that said acts have been complied with, and is bad.

Closing Sessions of the Presbytery of Washington City.
Yesterday, after our report closed, permission was granted to the congregation of the 15th street church to supply their pulpit until the next meeting of the presbytery.
Prof. John M. Langston made a statement regarding the financial condition of the 15th street church, in which he showed that the church owed about $11,000, and asked aid from the presbytery. Rev. Mr. Fairley moved that a recommendation be made to the churches, in order that collections may be taken up for the benefit of this church. Rev. J. N. Combs moved as a substitute that the matter be referred to a committee of five, to confer with the 15th street church; adopted, and Dr. Chester, 15th street church; adopted, and Dr. Chester, Dr. Mitchell, Dr. Smith, Dr. Howe and Judge Drake were appointed the committee. Revs. Mr. Nourse, Beach and Waller were Revs. Mr. Nourse, Beach and watter were selected to revise the standing rules of the presbytery.

Dr. Sunderland was appointed to represent the presbytery upon the case of appeal to the synod of the New York avenue church on the rotary elder question. A recess was taken until 7:80 o'cleck, when a free conversation on the subject of religion took place, and vote of thanks was tendered to the ladies of the church, and the presbytery adjourned sine dte. THE FRUIT REGION ABOUT WASHINGTON .-

The Fruit Region About Washington.—
The proceedings of the excellent Fruit Growers' Association have served to develop the fact that we have a fine fruit-growing region in this vicinity. The success of Mr. Phillips' vineyard and nurseries at North Arlington have also demonstrated the same fact; and we have now before us some really superb specimens of various choice varieties of pears raised by Mr. William Reading, at "Cedar Grove," near Cabin John bridge. Among these varieties are the Buerre superfine; the Duchess d'Angouleme; the Lawrence, and the Buffrum. Mr. Reading has raised specimens of the Duchess weighing 19 ounces, and has also succeeded in raising Bartlett's in five years from the seed. The grape also does well with him, as it does generally on the banks of the Potomac, and he has made a considerable amount of Catawba wine of very fine quality. We have also some specimens of Catawba and Concord wine made in this city from grapes grown on the farm of H. Johnson, in Maryland, that is of a quality to afford great encouragement for the business of wine-making in this vicinity.

GEORGETOWN.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The Belgian pavement has been laid in Water street, from High street to the K street bridge, and the grading of Grace street has been completed and curbs set, and to-day we notice the commencement of the Belgian pavement on it. The improvement of this street was greatly needed. Since ment of this street was greatly needed. Since the removal of the bridge at the market-house it is the only outlet from Water street up-town for heavy loaded teams. The extensive flour mills of Herr & Welch are situated at the west end of this street, and the grading of the street end of this street, and the grading of the street has added much to their appearance. Light Wanted.—Now that the gas mains are laid in Bridge street west of the market house, why are not the street lamps put up and

SALES OF REAL ESTATE &C. — Yesterday afternoon Thomas Dowling, auctioneer, sold the house in High street belonging to the heirs of Lewis Brooks, deceased, to D. M. Lawrence, for $4,255, and the cottage house in Montgomery street, near West, with side lot, to Mrs. E. M. Darneille, for $5,050, and the two-story brick house on West street, near Washington, to Kirby for $600.

CANAL TRADE. — The following are the receipts from the Chesapeake and Ohio canal for the week ending October 4th: From Cumberland, $9,564.15; Georgetywn, $1,750; Hancock, $6.32; Williamsport, $173.06. Total, $11,564.13. Accrued revenue at Cumberland for the week was $16,583; boats clearing from Cumberland during the week 280, carrying 30,655 tons of coal. Forty-one boats left Cumberland on Monday, carrying 4,465 tons of coal.

THE HORRIBLE DOUBLE CRIME IN WEST VIEGINIA.—A Hagerstown, Md., dispatch to the Baltimore American gives further particulars of the terrible tragedy which occurred near Falling Waters on Monday evening. The details only serve to increase the horror of the crime, which seems too brutal for a human being to entertain. The facts given in ye. anday's STAR were true, with the exception that the girl's name was Elizabeth, instead of Annie Butler, and she was between 13 and 14 years of age. The negro man suspected was arrested on Tuesday morning, but after an examination before a justice was released, notwithstanding there seemed sufficient evidence for his detention. He was met near the fatal spot by & white man, and his boots coincided with the footprints of the murderer, and blood was discovered on the toe and instep of one of the boots. Immediately after his release he absconded, but the sheriff is now after him, and in all probability has him in his charge by this time. A large club was found about one hundred yards from the place where the deed was committed, covered with blood. The body of the girl was found by some wood-choppers. It was terribly bruised, and the upper part of the head was mashed into a jelly. The victim was a poor but very much respected girl. THE HORRIBLE DOUBLE CRIME IN WEST

LETTERS FROM THE PROPLE

Editor of Evening Star:—Without going into any argument, but leaving that for you, I suggest the importance of founding in the District an institution for the care and cure of inebriates and persons afflicted with slight and violent symptoms of the disease of drunkenness. The tax and license on whisky and its associates ought to be appropriated to this purpose. It seems to me that all humane men and all who desire the progress and improvement of the District will unite on this. The drinker and seller of intoxicating liquors cannot object. Of course temperate men will favor the scheme. Don't mix politics. That goes badly with religion and morals.
